This is the prison form of Lape, the best known inmate in the county. He is chief inspector, captain, lieutenant, sergeant, detective, patrolman, and everything. And he supervises the cleaning of the streets, he says. He tips the scale at 340 pounds.

Wound Is Bandaged and Prisoner Goes A.W.O.L.

Police and constable officers today were searching for a prisoner who walked out of the Mary Gates hospital sometime Sunday after he had been taken there suffering from a bump on the head, inflicted by officers in making the arrest.

According to arresting officers, Constable Baker and Chief Walter O'Connell, they drove about of the unidentified man in a car and proceeded to search the machine. As the officers approached the man, he jumped into the side pocket of the car for something and the police hearing he was going after a gun forced him to drop the object.

It later turned out to be a bottle of whiskey. The man was taken to the hospital to have his head dressed, but when police sent for the prisoner yesterday he was A. W. O. L.

CUT PRICES AS WELL AS HAIR

Imagine Shave, Bayrum, for Only 10 Cents

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—"Shave 10 cents, hair cut 20 cents, blackeye 10 cents."

These are the latest tongsorial prices on the Bowery, where the barbers are in a price cutting—as well as hair cutting—war.

The barbers applied the razor to their price list when they became alarmed at a sudden trend toward head cultivation.

Shave appeared with magical rapidity in front of the barber shops and price quotations fluctuated from hour to hour.

"Shave 15 cents. This is no slaughter house," blarneyed the Peoples' Barber shop.

"First class shave 10 cents," countered Louis the Barber.

"Shave with bayrum 10 cents, eight experts," cried Jimmy the Tongsorial.

lot, and the customers thrifted in his shaving.

"Shave, bayrum, hair tonic and lavender water, full dose, 10 cents," proclaimed Albertine.

So far, he leads.

"S. S. Since above was written prices have crashed again, due to the famous New York Barber College's sensational announcement.

"Good shave 5 cents; hair cut latest style, 5 and 10 cents. No waiting."

Fred Fulton will never be what you might call an up-standing man in the community as long as he's got that glass jaw.

451 TRILLIONS IS A FINE FINE!

That's Equivalent to Penalty German Is Assessed Here

Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, and his mythical fine of 25 million assessed against the Standard Oil company faded into the halo of small time stuff here in a comparison to fine assessed by local editors' official mounting roughly to 451 trillion.

Four hundred fifty one trillion and 700 billions reduced to dollars was the fine assessed against the master of the twin screw steamer Julius Schindler when customs officials found 521 quarts of "schnaps" aboard the vessel, without the whiskey's having been declared in the manifest.

The law provides a fine equal to the value of the article confiscated.

So Assistant Collector of Customs A. Gunter decided 50 cents a bottle would be sufficient and assessed a fine of $150,50 in coin of the realm, (equal to 451,000,000,000,000 marks in hospital.

the coin of the realm of the German shipper.

GIRL HERE VICTIM OF FOOD POISON AT FAIR

BEAUMONT, Texas, Nov. 12.—Julia Rosa, 14 year old girl living at 1221 Houston avenue, Port Arthur, was removed to her home Sunday afternoon after spending Saturday night at hotel lobby here.

The little girl after eating a hamburger sandwich at the South Texas fair grounds was stricken with probable poisoning and an ambulance was called and she was taken to the migration and voting also was stressed by Rev. Brown.

SERVICE FAN MEMORY FIRES

"It takes 21 years for a boy born in America, brought up in the very principles and teachings of this nation to come into the right to exercise his franchise, while a foreigner can vote his ballot within five years after he sets foot upon the soil of this nation. I say that the ballot should not be given to anyone who is not a born American," Rev. Brown said.

Observe Silent Minute

This statement and a number of others made by the speaker brought storms of applause from the audience assembled for the services. The singing, under the direction of A. M. Culp, included the hymn "O God, Christian Soldiers," "American," and war time songs. "There's A Long Long Trail," and "Keep the Home Fires Burning." The choir from the First M. E. Church, Stillwell boulevard and Lake Shore drive, and the First Baptist church sang Rudyard Kipling's "Recessional," using the musical setting of Reginald De Koven.

Following the silent minute at 11 o'clock, when the audience stood in silent prayer and meditation upon the soldier dead, especially those who fell on the last day of the world war, Rev. C. W. Culp, pastor of the First Baptist church, delivered the opening prayer. The Scripture lesson was read by Rev. W. E. Blackstock, pastor of the First M. E. church, and Rev. Brown pronounced the benediction.

Guy T. Halton, post commander of Rudolph Lambert post, American Legion, presided at the services, and with him on the platform was Major C. H. Fitzgerald, commander of the Port Arthur Veterans of Foreign Wars post.

R.C. VOLUNTEERS ARE COMMENDED

Division Reports to Washington on Workers Here

Characterizing the volunteer Red Cross work of Port Arthur as one of the mainstays of the chapter here, officials of the Northwestern Red Cross division have forwarded this special recognition of the Port Arthur chapter to national Red Cross headquarters in Washington, a message to the chapter here states.

Mrs. Frank J. Imhoff, general chairman of the volunteer committee of Port Arthur Red Cross chapter, who was invited to speak before the national conference of Red Cross workers held in Washington last September, has with her on the committee Mrs. Howard M. Smith, in charge of the motor corps, which collected clothing and supplies from donors who are unable to bring or send them to the Red Cross hut; Mrs. T. T. Fitzgerald, in charge of the store room, where supplies and clothing are assembled and sorted; Mrs. Pat Reed, in charge of the division of volunteer workers engaged in filling emergency quotas for domestic and foreign relief; and Mrs. W. H. Ellis, who directs the filling of quarterly shipments of garments for foreign relief.

DRAGNET ADDS TWO IN WEEK-END RAIDS

Liquor raids were continued over the week end with two men being caught in the net.

Police raiding the apartment of Jack Parker said they seized about a half pint of whisky. Three broken bottles were found, according to Chief Covington. Parker was released on bonds to appear before a preliminary hearing on charges of possession of intoxicating liquor for possession of sale.

The law descended twice on Sonny Flowers, negro, over the week-end. He was arrested by Eutawman Williams Saturday night and a pint of corn whisky seized. Detectives Simons and Williams went back to Sonny's place yesterday morning and seized 14 pop bottles with varying amounts of corn whisky in each.

HUMPHREYS WORKMAN INJURED IN PLUNGE

Leslie Austin, employed at the Humphreys company, Port Neches, sustained severe bruises on his left arm and shoulder and a deep gash in his scalp when he fell off a scaffolding 25 feet above the flooring of a tank he was working on about 11:30 a. m. today. Austin was rushed to Mary Gates hospital in an ambulance from the Humphreys establishment. Examination at the hospital showed Austin's injuries to be severe and painful but not serious, hospital authorities said.

60 Kimonos For Jap Quake Victims Shipped

Sixty Japanese kimonos were shipped out of Port Arthur Saturday by the local Red Cross chapter as a part of the quota from this district.

Work on the kimonos was done by the Council of Jewish Women, high school domestic science class, auxiliary for Veterans of Foreign Wars, and individual women of the city. Announcement of the work done was made by Mrs. Frank Imhoff, in charge of the Red Cross chapter, at the Red Cross.

Woodrow Wilson Shaves, Dines, Reads, Receives Calls and Retires by 11

ALL HIS ACTIONS RIGIDLY TIMED

Former President Says Actions Must Be Memories

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Not even in the days when he was president and his hours were carefully charted for him—so many for interviews, so many for correspondence, so many for congressional or cabinet conferences—did Woodrow Wilson live more definitely by the clock than he does today, as a private citizen and semi-invalid.

A person familiar with Wilson's regimen can, by looking at his watch, tell you just what the former president is doing at any given time. No wage-earning clock-puncher leads a more carefully timed existence.

Wilson rises at 7. He shaves himself and is rather leisurely about his morning toilet. It is after 8 before he is through shaving, bathing and dressing.

Breakfast at 8:30 is partaken with Mrs. Wilson. Then the morning papers—Washington and New York—until 10 o'clock.

Promptly at 10, unless Dr. Grayson has dropped in to look over his patient and put him through a course of calisthenics, he reads his mail, which usually is a large one.

He reads every letter personally. To do more important ones he dictates the answer. To others he simply indicates to his secretary the nature of the answer to be given.

That keeps him busy until about 12:30. After lunch at 1 o'clock he usually lies down for a nap. He sleeps until 3, when he arises to prepare for his daily auto rides, at 3:30.

These rides usually last about two hours. So carefully has he timed the various drives he likes best, that he knows to a minute just how long each will take. When he tells the chauffeur where he wishes to go he can tell you whether he will be back by 5:30 or whether it will be 5:45.

At 5:30, returned from his ride, he hears the news of the day. Mrs. Wilson usually goes over the evening papers with him, but often he reads them himself. This occupies the interval to 7 o'clock, when dinner is served.

After dinner, unless an evening guest has dropped in, which is rare, he reads—magazines, current fiction, a few books. Preparation for bed begins at 9 o'clock. This usually occupies about an hour, in the course of which he receives certain treatments for his ailments and a light massage.

By 10 o'clock he is under the covers, ready for nine hours of rest.

Wilson receives an average of from four to six callers each week, usually old political or war-time associates. With them he likes particularly to discuss current events, which helps keep his contact and viewpoint on important developments fresh. He attends the theater once each week, usually vaudeville.

The former war president is doing no writing, nor does he plan any extended literary work as his admirers generally have hoped. Any further writings he may undertake will be brief articles, discussing current issues or problems, such as his recent article in the Atlantic Monthly on "The Road Away From Revolution."

He will write no memoirs, no "inside" story of his administration or of the war. He will undertake no defense or explanation of himself or the policies he followed or advocated. To a caller who urged him to write the inside story of his administration he said:

"I know I had a great administration, but it would not sound well for me to say so. I am willing to leave the record as it stands for the future to judge."

Neither will Wilson take an active part in the 1924 presidential campaign. He knows his physical condition, although considerably improved, would neither permit him to make the race nor to meet the duties of the office. He is content to be just an on-looker, injecting, perhaps, from time to time, an occasional offer, a pointed remark or a brief letter on political affairs.

A recent letter, in which he dipped into the Tennessee senatorial race long enough to remark that he considered Senator Shields of that state "one of the least trustworthy" of his former professed supporters, may prove a deciding factor in the fight there. Where opportunity offers for such direct help or opposition, Will

Dan Weds Again

"Dapper" Dan Caswell, wealthy young Cleveland, has embarked upon another cruise over the marital seas. And, as everybody expected, it will be this young lady, June Caswell, former Folies and Sally beauty, who'll chart his course. Dan's first voyage, with Jessie Reed, also of Cleveland's dancing maidens, came to grief before it hardly had begun. And then he said he'd never marry another show girl.

son will get a smile and some satisfaction in saying what he has to say. But he will do it all while sitting by on the sidelines as a spectator.

Despite the careful regimen to which Wilson has ordered his life, he has taken on weight which is not helpful to him. He has a keen appetite, however, and does not take kindly to suggestions of a restricted diet.

Although there has been improvement in the condition of partial paralysis underlying much of Wilson's illness, his closest friends are not optimistic of any decided further improvement. For offsetting the somewhat better circulation and muscular control there has developed difficulties of elimination which may grow dangerous. A particularly difficult bladder condition has arisen which may cause complications.

NO FATTED CALF FOR PRINCE BILL

Wife Refuses to Say He Returns As Private Citizen

By United News.
OELLS, Minn., Nov. 12.—The sleepy Silesian village of Oells has awakened, started, to find an army of newspapermen camping in the "Eagle Inn," and would attention centered on the expected arrival of ex-Prince Wilhelm.

Oells, however, is awaiting the homecoming with perfect calm. The only sign of life about the village Sunday was provided by the two little daughters of the prince, who were playing in the castle park, manifestly excited over daddy's return.

No flags were flying, no reception committee awaited. There were no announcements for the press. On the contrary, Wilhelm intended to return simply, in secret and without pomp.

Even the castle kitchen is normal. The cook declares she has received no orders to kill any fatted calf, or its equivalent—fatted calves are extremely scarce in Germany now, anyway—nor has she been asked to make any "special preparations."

The master of the castle told the United News the time of the prince's arrival was unknown. He said he was not expected immediately, as he was stopping circumlocutiously through Germany and where the cooking of Saxony is staying. Thence, it was said, he might go to his hunting castle near Oels.

The former crown-princess, who is here, has intimated she desires Wilhelm to keep his pledge to the government, to live quietly, and that he will make no statement upon arrival.

Free Water Was Booze: Now Mr. Bill Is in Jail

By United News.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 12.—"Fresh water—free—have a drink," read a sign on a faucet in the soft drink bar of William Klepfer, who is still optimistic enough to carry a card of the bartenders' union.

Police Sergeant Joe Parsley happened to drop into the establishment and seeing the sign followed orders.

Now Klepfer is in jail. Two quarts of whiskey were drained from the tank.

52,121 Attend Sunday School At Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 12.—A new record for attendance at a man's Bible class was made here yesterday by the class of the First Baptist church when 52,121 attended the services. Only about 50 per cent of the men could get inside Convention Hall, where the class met. The remainder stood in parks around the building.

By setting the record, the Kansas City class won a contest with a Long Beach, Cal., men's Bible class. The Long Beach had an attendance of 31,502.

Nearly 100,000 attended numerous community meetings and demonstrations throughout the city.

Speedy Mat Battle Anticipated When Mamos, Poulis Clash

Heavyweight Stars Return To City For Series of Wrangles

Fast Prelims, Snappy Main-Go Feature First Wrestling Card This Season Under Direction of Promoter Will Fort in City Arena

BY BILL ARCHER

WHEN Harry Mamos and Mike Poulis clash here tomorrow night in the main event of the first wrestling card of the season, the match will be the first of a series of air put on in Port Arthur since the advent of Pinky Gardner of Schmeer, N. Y., last winter.

Mamos and Poulis both tip the beams at 180 pounds—the light-heavyweight class, and both wrestlers are the type of progressives that make a gripping battle a real fight from start to finish.

Fresh from a tour of Cuba with a string of victories to his credit, Mamos is in the pink of trim for Poulis. Poulis, too, is well-prepared for the scrap, and has been wrestling recently in Houston, where he draws a host of fans to his side of the rooting stands, in his popularity.

The bout is being staged under the direction of Promoter Will Fort, who has recently taken over the Nattorium, and who will operate it this winter.

Paul Jones, who recently topped Charlie Thompson in the Houston arena before a throng of wrestling fans, who has become a popular favorite over there, is also on the string, and will be matched with Actor Mamos or Poulis in the very near future.

It is understood that as long as warm weather prevails, Fort will schedule bouts at regular intervals in the arena, probably promoting not less than two a month, and possibly one each week. With the advent of colder weather, Fort will be putting on bouts at more varied intervals, but the hours will be put on just the same.

The wrestling game has returned to Port Arthur, it came back strong several weeks ago with a series of matches before a throng of wrestling fans, in which the latter was declared the victor. Both local boys did themselves justice on the occasion of their tangles, and their battle was one of the best ever witnessed in Port Arthur.

Fort is bringing some heavier material to the mats here, but the local boys will be overlooked. They will be given their turn, and the matches being arranged for the future will be snappy cards that hold attraction for the local boys at the popular price of one dollar for any seat in the arena.

The coming bill on Fort's management, Mamos vs. Poulis, with a card of six or seven preliminary matches, is probably as good as can be found in the south, will go the limit and fans who turn out to witness it will be treated to some real excitement.

The doors swing open tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock, and the main bout will probably get under way an hour later.

PRAISE MARYLAND

NEWHAVEN, Nov. 12.—Although Maryland gave Yale a great setback today, Yale players today praised the team for its clean sportsmanship and the manner in which that another team could be scheduled next year is possible and will be made one of the features of the schedule. The Yale squad came out of the game without injuries.

NAVY VS. ARMY

ANNAPOLIS, Nov. 12.—Still five with the team shown by the Midshipmen in defeat at St. Xavier's Saturday, Navy coaches started working today for the game of the year with the Army. The coaches were most pleased with the return to form of Barclay who ran wild in the St. Xavier game.

STARS BACK

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 12.—Amongst an Alton, Harvard stars "broke" out in the Princeton game were not badly hurt and both will be able to play against Yale. Both received knee injuries. The Harvard star was still celebrating the victory over Princeton today.

MAY PILOT MICHIGAN

ANN ARBOR, Nov. 12.—Ted Rock will probably pilot Michigan in the remainder of the season. Irwin Pater, regular quarterback, sustained a fractured shin bone in the game with the Marines Saturday.

MEETS DRAKE

LAWRENCE, Kans., Nov. 12.—The Lawbreakers began preparations today for the clash Saturday with Drake. A light scrimmage and long snail drill was the program, the Lawbreakers taking last week with Washington.

LIGHT TACTICS

COLUMBIA, Nov. 12.—Michigan's team, beaten by Oklahoma Saturday, was out for a light workout today, foregoing scrimmage until tomorrow.

4 SURVIVE IN BIG GRID RACE

Notre Dame Booted to Ignominious Spot

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Cornell, Toledo, Syracuse and Michigan, surviving another jolting week, occupy the heights of football as the season rolls into the third downstage.

Notre Dame fell from the select Saturday by falling most surprisingly before Nebraska.

Yale also dropped a notch by beating Maryland only 16 to 14.

Washington and Jefferson and West Virginia are undefeated among the eastern teams but both have engaged in one game.

Cornell, leading the nation with 254 points, stands as the greatest offensive team in the east, and perhaps in the country while the Syracuse eleven holds the defensive honors by still possessing an unbroken goal line one field goal scored by Eddie Williams and Mary, contributed the only points scored against Syracuse.

PENN STATE NEXT

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 12.—Pennsylvania, mounting under the 8 to 6 beating administered by Lafayette, began a drive today for their annual game with Penn State Saturday.

Johnny Dean, quarterback, who is out of the game for the rest of the season with an injured leg, will be the only varsity man who will be unable to start against the Nittany Lions.

A corn plant in India stands out as a rival of Jack's beanstalk. It is reported to have grown 13 inches in five days during extremely warm weather.

MIDGET HORSE OUT IN FRONT

Sarazen's Owner Willing to Race With Zev

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—An underdog, 2-year-old horse whose mother once forged between the shafts of a wagon at ordinary trot has come dashingly to own the stretch of the American racing season to finish neck and neck with Zev, in Memorial and other winners of proud ancestry in the heart bursting competition for immortality.

His name is Sarazen, and like the beloved "Old Bones," which is his more familiar way of mentioning Exaggerated, Sarazen is a gelding.

Sarazen has won the championship of the two-year-old class and last week he won one section of the Pimlico weight-for-age handicap, over the mile distance which is a pretty long hike for a two-year-old, defeating Blazes, a 3-year-old, and General Tatum, a 2-year-old.

It would be foolhardy of Sam Hildreth, who trains Zev, to let that winner of an international match race risk his reputation further again in a race 2-year-old but Hildreth is willing to take the chance, Max Hirsch, who trains Sarazen, is ready to send the infant savior to the post for a run of one mile and a quarter.

That was the distance which Hildreth stipulated for a match race with Zev. Sarazen was finally chosen by the American representative against Sarazen. Therefore, he can't back out of a refusal of Hirsch's challenge on the fact that the distance is too short to determine a championship.

But, if Zev does not want to recognize Sarazen's right to challenge a proud Zev, then the same deflating blow to Sarazen's reputation will be dealt by the impudent age of two.

Hearts of Nation's Caddies Go Out to Evans

By JOE WILLIAMS

Chick Evans broke $400,000 in debt, a victim of stock market backfire.

A large part of the world will read this, tilt a surprised eyebrow and admit in an impersonal sort of way that "he was a good golf player any how."

The world is like that. But to the caddies—the little camels of the links—the news that their questions (and it is questions of stress) will come as a stunning shock. To them the Chicago event is little less than the goal of golf, an inspiring, helpful, fierce that stands for everything that is big and noble in the sport.

Evans was a caddy himself 20 years ago at the old Glenview club in Chicago. One of the finest things about Evans as a man was that he never forgot he was a caddy. Accepted on a basis of social equality by some of the nation's biggest men, Evans set always had time to visit with the boys in the caddy enclosure at the big tournaments.

In recent years, Evans devoted much time and money to the elevation of a caddy foundation, a national fund, the purpose of which is to improve working conditions, provide playing opportunities and in other ways make life a bit easier for the club toilers.

Much good has come from the idea and it will continue to be potentiated. Evans has not been himself for 10 months. The terrific mental strain under which he worked took the edge off his usually brilliant game. At Glenview in the national amateur he was no more the Evans of a year ago than Mathewson is the pitcher he

Wild Bill Wade Noses Gus Schrader Out at Finish in Feature Event of Speedway Classic as 4,000 Look on

BY TAB

ROUNDING the curves of East Texas Speedway at 75 miles per hour, Wild Bill Wade from New Orleans dusted Gus Schrader of Chicago, yesterday, and pushed his Studebaker in ahead of the fleet Chalmers Special to a purse of $500 in the feature event of the Sunny classic.

It was decidedly the largest hit of the day, and drew prolonged shouts from the host of race-hungry fans to hug the rail to watch the finish.

Johnny Lee, in John Mais' No. 21 Dodge, finished third, dropping a wheel of his buzz buggy just as he came to a halt in the pit. Luckily for Lee the wheel stuck fast to the pedestal 'till the race was ended.

While between 4,000 and 5,000 fans stood up and cheered in the huge grandstand at the course, Tom Williams, official track announcer, called the first clash to order and the "son of auto track from Chicago, Kansas City, New Orleans, Indianapolis, Galveston, Beaumont, Houston and Corpus Christi" whizzed off in the first clash under the new management.

In the estimation of the fans who gathered on the field, the races were the best that have been scheduled this year, and drew to the dirt bowl the best cars and drivers who have yet been seen in action.

At Waters' Duesenberg, perhaps one of the best cars that went in, failed to show due to engine trouble encountered in the earlier heats, and the fans who looked to see just what Al had under the hood and in the frame of the apparently-powerful wagon only got a glimpse of its real ability when Waters huddled it in ahead of Rex-Edmunds' Dodge Special in a 5-mile event for non-winners of the first two clashes, with a time of 8:17, something better than 60 miles an hour. And even then, the engine "wasn't hitting right," and Waters was having trouble.

Red Putman of Chicago furnished the only exciting turn of the dirt in the air, but is unable to get the wheel of his Dodge Special, at the wheel of a Studebaker, had been beaten. It was a great race.

The race for non-winners of the first two events was won by Al Waters in his Duesenberg in 8:17, over Edmunds in his own Dodge, No. 15. The feature event, 21 miles, brought the crowd to its feet. Gus Schrader in his Chalmers took an early lead, with Wade and Lee driving close, respectively. Nearer and nearer Wade crowded Schrader—at the fourteenth lap he drew alongside of the Chalmers and moved ahead. The checker of flag was brought into play at the stand. Schrader, in the fastest car on the track yesterday, had been beaten. It was a great race.

Villa, although a terrific hitter for his weight, and a little man of fine craft in posing on a wobbling adversary, has never been able to defeat Genaro. Three times Genaro beat him before Villa got the match with Williams for the world championship. Therefore, Genaro has been making himself as offensive as possible to Villa ever since, with demands for a championship match.

It is explained on Genaro's behalf that he is not really a poet, and would not know a sonnet from a roundelay. He has that dreamy look because he has two children who won't let him get enough sleep.

FRANKIE'S TITULAR SCRAP

Genaro Will Meet Frankie Villa Dec. 17

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Frankie Genaro, a tiny Italian boxer with the dreamy face of a poet, who won the amateur flyweight championship of the world as a member of America's Olympic team in 1928, will be given a chance at the world's professional title on December 17.

Genaro has been matched to fight Frankie Villa, the Filipino who won the championship here last summer by knocking out the brave Jimmy Williams, in which Williams was twice knocked cold after the bell, only to revive each time and return to the battle until a third knockout caught him in the middle of a round.

Villa, although a terrific hitter for his weight, and a little man of fine craft in posing on a wobbling adversary, has never been able to defeat Genaro. Three times Genaro beat him before Villa got the match with Williams for the world championship. Therefore, Genaro has been making himself as offensive as possible to Villa ever since, with demands for a championship match.

It is explained on Genaro's behalf that he is not really a poet, and would not know a sonnet from a roundelay. He has that dreamy look because he has two children who won't let him get enough sleep.

PANTOMIME : : : By J. H. Spalding

"Goodby," called Nancy and Nick happily. "We'll tell the Fairy Queen all about you."

Mister Cardinal Bird flew out of the magnolia tree and Misses Cuckoo Bird flew after him, her wings flashing like and green in the sunlight.

Next came the Twins, not flying, but walking faster than any little boy or girl ever walked before, in their magic shoes.

They were on their way to an older tree in Dixie Land where Misses Warbler was sitting on her nest. Misses Warbler was as cross as a Tweedle Dum because somebody had laid an extra egg in her nest and expected her to hatch it. She was telling people that Misses Cuckoo had laid it.

So now they were on their way to Misses Warbler's nest to find out all about it.

The minute Misses Warbler saw them she began to call out, "Here she comes! Here comes that lazy Misses Cuckoo, who won't build her own nest and who expects other people to bring up her children! Have you anything to say for yourself, Misses Cuckoo?"

"I've been trying to say something all along," said gentle Misses Cuckoo, "but everybody talks so much I haven't had a chance. You know, people say that I don't, but I do. I never laid an egg in anybody else's nest in my life. I have a cousin over in Europe (who is a disgrace to the family) and she does it, but American cuckoos are very different. We only try to be useful and eat up as many bugs as we can. And we sing to make people happy."

"Then if you have a nest, why aren't you on it?" asked Misses Warbler in surprise.

"That's another thing that we cuckoos do in Dixie Land," explained Misses Cuckoo. "Two or three other cuckoos often have a partnership nest and take turns keeping the eggs warm so the others can be out destroying bugs. It's my turn now and I must be gone."

Just then a new voice called out, "Ha ha, ha! I've been listening! That's my egg in your nest, Misses Warbler. I don't mind you knowing." And Misses Cuckoo Bird flew away before anybody could say a word.

"Oh, we're awfully sorry," apologized Misses Warbler kindly to Misses Cuckoo.

"You're right we are, Misses Cuckoo," declared Mister Cardinal Bird. "And for one I am going to stop gossiping. Why didn't you tell us before?"

"My friends know it," said Misses Cuckoo softly. "And when strangers jump at conclusions without knowing what they are talking about, it usually best to let them alone. Goodby, everybody. I must go now."

"Good-bye," called Nancy and Nick happily. "We'll tell the Fairy Queen all about you."

CHILD'S STORY OF THE HUMAN RACE By Uncle Ray

Chapter 21—The Making of Words

We have said very little so far about the speech of Stone Age people. Let us now go back into the beginning of language.

Human beings must always have known how to talk—after a fashion. The earliest people, however, surely spoke in a very crude way. They knew few words. They could hardly have been able to speak a long, smooth sentence.

How did they get their first words? We do not know. Spoken words are not like bones, stone knives and spears. Words could not be saved for us to see after hundreds of thousands of years.

You can arrive at an idea of how people made words in the first place. To get the idea, we must use our reason.

Suppose you were far out in the forest with some friends. Suppose all of you had forgotten how to talk, and that you had to stay in the woods for many years!

If you wanted to say "brook," you would probably make a sound like the brook. You would say "urgle-urgle" or something like that. If you wanted to say "crow," you might say "caw-caw." If you wanted to say "dog" you could say "bow-wow."

In the same manner, it is believed, the earliest people made many of their words. To say "wind," they very likely said "wooo-oooo." To say rhinoceros, mammoth, bear, lion, fox, deer, wolf, they doubtless tried to make the sounds they heard these animals make.

Perhaps you ask: "If things that made noise were named in that way, why don't we all use those names now?"

That is a good question, but there is a good answer. Parents taught their children the names of the different animals. The children did not say those names just right. As time went on, there were changes in the way certain words were spoken. Finally you couldn't tell the words were the same any more.

To give ideas of motion, the earliest people may have tried to get out the ideas. For instance, when they wanted to say, "The bear runs," they probably made the sound for bear and then made the motion of running. To say "high," they may have held their hands as high in the air as possible. Even today, we often use words that sound like the things they name. Among such words are: jazz, hiss, crack, splash and boohie. Say these, and see for yourself.

NEXT—What happened to the Dead.

ON GAMING CHARGE

Police arrested six men giving their names as Luke Williams, Dick Langford, James Vorden, Ed Bowman, Jim Young and Robert Harrison yesterday morning on charges of gaming with cards.

It must have been rather hard for Stone Age people to talk, but in time they developed their ability.
